AURP'S COMMUNITIES OF INNOVATION

The Association of University Research Parks (AURP) is the professional association representing university-related research, science and technology parks. AURP's membership is comprised of parks from nearly 200 of the world's top research universities and institutes. "Creating an environment that encourages innovation and entrepreneurship" is a top priority of AURP members. This involves the design and creation of new research and laboratory space, new mixed-use communities, and new collaborative programs.
