

Industry Research Alliances Specialist

Reporting to the Director of Innovation, the Industry Research Alliances Specialist will develop and manage an industry alliance program that enhances research and technology transfer opportunities, create industry-sponsored research partnerships, and build collaborations that are mutually beneficial to both industry and University research teams in the Office of Innovation. The Industry Research Alliances Specialist is responsible for developing, managing and strengthening new and existing research collaborations between the SJSU research enterprise and industry stakeholders. The Industry Research Alliances Specialist must be adaptable, dynamic, enthusiastic, energetic and ready to do what the task requires to ensure SJSU meets and exceeds the expectations of its stakeholders. Must be a business professional experienced in program development and delivery, a strategic thinker and self-driven. This position would be of interest to someone who wishes to work in a not-for-profit, research & innovation organization and be involved in a complex, dynamic and diverse environment.
